This course has 72 contact hours in total.

Course Description

This course is an introductory survey of world history, which provides a historical overview of major processes and interactions in the development of human society since the development of agriculture some 10,000 years ago. The course should enable students to treat world history as an arena for study of the past that address large-scale patterns as well as local narratives, in which they can pursue their interest in various types of knowledge.

In its audience, the course is intended for undergraduate students in all majors, especially in their first two years. For this wide range of students, the course not only provides background on globalization today, but reveals the contrasting process of large-scale social interaction which takes place rapidly (such as technology) as compared with those that take place slowly (such as social values).

For majors in History, the course will provide an initial step in the interactive and interdisciplinary study of the past that they will explore in more detail at advanced undergraduate levels. And for those considering a career in teaching, this course provides strong background for the world-history curriculum that is now taught in most secondary schools.

Note: This Syllabus is subject to change based on the needs of the class.

Overall Review

Attending Policy

Regular and prompt attendance is required. Under ordinary circumstances, you may miss two times without penalty. Each absence over this number will lower your course grade by a third of a letter and missing more than five classes may lead to a failing grade in the course. Arriving late and/or leaving before the end of the class period are equivalent to absences.

Policy on "Late Withdrawals"

In accordance with university policy, appeals for late withdrawal will be approved ONLY in case of medical emergency and similar crises.

Academic Honesty

Nanchang University expects all students to do their own work. Instructors will fail assignments that show evidence of plagiarism or other forms of cheating, and will also report the student's name to the University administration. A student reported to the University for cheating is placed on disciplinary probation; a student reported twice is suspended or expelled.

General Expectations:

Students are expected to:

- Attend all classes and be responsible for all materials covered in class and otherwise assigned;
- Complete the day's required reading and assignments before class;
- Review the previous day's notes before class and make notes about questions you have about the previous class or the day's reading;
- Participate in class discussions and complete required written work on time;
- Refrain from texting, phoning or engaging in computer activities unrelated to class during the class period;
- While class participation is welcome, even required, you are expected to refrain from private conversations during the class period.

Special Needs or Assistance

Please contact the Administrative Office immediately if you have a learning disability, a medical issue, or any other type of problem that prevents professors from seeing you have learned the course material. Our goal is to help you learn, not to penalize you for issues which mask your learning.
